

PORTFOLIO INFORMATION

STRATEGY

The Long Term Growth & Income Portfolio is designed for investors seeking current income and the potential for their income level to grow over time, while managing risk. To achieve these objectives the portfolio will typically have a substantial allocation to dividend paying stocks; therefore, investors in this portfolio should be able to assume a certain degree of portfolio volatility. Under normal conditions, the portfolio is expected to have between 60% and 90% of its assets invested in a diversified basket of dividend paying stocks, with the balance of the portfolio invested in various other income-paying securities. The portfolio management team may depart from the targeted allocation range when they feel that certain sectors of the financial markets are over or under valued.

Investments in international and emerging markets securities include exposure to risks including currency fluctuations, foreign taxes and regulations, and the potential for illiquid markets and political instability. Small- and mid-cap companies may be hindered as a result of limited resources or less diverse products or services and have therefore historically been more volatile than the stocks of larger, more established companies. In a rising interest rate environment, the value of fixed-income securities generally declines.

Composite Characteristics: The composite was created May 1, 2009.

The benchmark is currently a static blend consisting of 70% S&P 500 and 30% Barclays Capital US Treasury Bond Index (formerly Lehman US Treasury Index) that is rebalanced monthly. This benchmark has been in effect since the inception of the portfolio on 5/01/2009. The Standard & Poor's (S&P) 500 Index measures the performance of 500 large cap stocks, which together represent about 75% of the total US equities market. The Barclays Capital US Treasury Index measures the performance of the US Treasury bond market.

The Composite is designed for investors seeking income potential who are able to assume a certain degree of portfolio volatility. Under normal market conditions, the composite is expected to have between 60% and 90% of its assets invested in a diversified basket of dividend-paying common stocks, with the balance of the portfolio invested in various other income-paying securities. The portfolio manager may depart from the targeted allocation range when he or she feels that certain sectors of the financial markets are significantly over or under valued.

Calculation Methodology: The Composite includes all fee-paying, full discretionary portfolios managed by RiverFront Investment Group, in this respective style. The performance provided for the Composite is prepared using full accrual, trade-dated accounting conventions. Dividends and interest on fixed income securities are accrued as earned and interest on cash balances is recognized on a cash basis. The performance returns are asset-weighted and calculated using beginning-of-month market values plus time-weighted cash flows. Portfolios are valued monthly and are linked geometrically to produce quarterly and annual returns. Total returns including realized and unrealized gains plus income are used when calculating investment performance. Pure gross performance returns are calculated before the deduction of trading expenses or advisory fees. The fees for the composite are calculated on an account-by-account basis to produce a net-of-fee return for each account which is then weighted with all of the accounts' net returns in the composite to arrive at the net-of-fee return for the composite. The net of fees return is the pure gross return netted down by the actual wrap fee includes custodian fees, trading expenses, management fee, reporting fees, etc. All returns and valuations are in U.S. dollars.

The dispersion measure is the asset-weighted standard deviation of accounts in the composite for the entire year.

Other Disclosures: Fees do not cover the fees and expenses of underlying exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds or mutual funds in the portfolio. Any particular client's account performance may differ from the composite results due to, among other things, commissions, timing of order entry, or the manner in which the trades are executed. Additional information regarding policies for calculating and reporting returns is available upon request. Past performance does not guarantee future results. This performance report should not be construed as a recommendation to purchase or sell any particular securities held in composite accounts. Market conditions can vary widely over time and can result in a loss of portfolio value. A complete list and description of composites managed by RiverFront is available upon request.
